R.A.F. DROPS HEAVIEST BOMB LOAD IN RAIDS

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THERE HAS BEEN widespread acceptance of the startling thesis that Russia will emerge from the war as dominant power of the eastern hemisphere, and concrete evidence in support of this idea is accumulating as we enter the final stages of the conflict.

One indication of the trend is the manner in which numerous European countries are orienting their policies, in greater or less degree, towards Moscow. This is particularly noticeable in eastern and southeastern Europe, but it's by no means confined to that zone, for we even find France—as represented by the Committee of National Liberation and Gen. DeGaulle in Algiers—going out of its way to make overtures to Russia.

A notable example of this tendency is provided by the little Czechoslovakia—early sacrifice on the altar of Hitlerian appeasement. One of the milestones in this trend was the signing of a pact of mutual assistance and post-war cooperation between the Soviet and Czechoslovakia last December. Then in February President Eduard Benes announced that Moscow and his country were working for a Slav alliance, including Poland, to secure peace in eastern Europe.

Pursuant to that we have an article by Dr. Benes in the May issue of Free World magazine in which he emphasizes the need of Slav solidarity as a barrier against the Nazi and Fascist forces of reaction. The doctor is one of the world's distinguished statesmen and so merits attention when he says:

"I look on this war as an historic action to put a final stop to the Pan-German drang nach Osten (drive to the east). This war has been a vivid demonstration that there must be friendly and loyal collaboration among Poland, Czechoslovakia and Soviet Russia."

Dr. Benes maintains that "the future of the Slav countries is indissolubly linked to a fight for freedom on behalf of all Slav peoples." He explains he doesn't mean that the Slavs should form a solid bloc, since a bloc excluding all other peoples would threaten them and would constitute a new power in Europe.

INDIRECT EMPHASIS was added to this article yesterday on the arrival of Jan Masaryk, deputy prime minister and foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, in New York from England. He declared his country trusts the Soviet union implicitly regarding future relations between the two.

Of course, Dr. Benes' declaration doesn't indicate weakening of the friendship among Czechoslovakia.

TWO FORMER SALEM WOMEN FIRE VICTIMS

Belle Pyfer and Aunt, 80, Perish; Landlady Gives Life Aiding Them

Miss Lillian Sprague, 80, and her niece, Miss Belle Pyfer, 55, former Salem residents, died in a fire which swept a North Side rooming house in Pittsburgh Monday night, friends here have just learned.

Miss Mary A. Young, 80, died in a futile attempt to save the lives of the other two women.

Miss Pyfer was the daughter of the late Mrs. Clara Pyfer, teacher at Prospect school about 45 years ago. They lived on W. State st., going to Pittsburgh to make their home more than 35 years ago. Miss Pyfer taught music in Pittsburgh.

Miss Young climbed the stairway from her first-floor bedroom to the third floor to rouse the other tenants when fire broke out in her rooming house at 826 North Lincoln ave., Pittsburgh.

She warned George Adams, 72, who managed to escape with minor injuries.

Then she went to the bedroom of Miss Sprague and Miss Pyfer.

The bodies of the three women were found near the windows, their escape cut off when the two-alarm fire spread to the stairs.

Mrs. Anna Young Young, 70, a sister, said:

"When I woke up the first floor was full of smoke. Mary climbed two flights of stairs to awaken Lillian and Belle."

Six other occupants, including Charles Norton, 45, who lived on the second floor, escaped.

Firemen said the fire started in a mattress in Norton's room. He tried to shove the burning mattress out of the window, but it became lodged and set fire to draperies, firemen said.

Kiwanians Attend District Meeting

Salem Kiwanians joined in a Tenth district meeting last night at Lisbon where Former Governor Carl Weinman of Steubenville was honored by the division clubs and by his home group.

A dinner, preceding the meeting, was held in the Presbyterian church with 235 present. Ed C. Corcoran of Steubenville, Tenth district lieutenant governor, and Peter Lamb of Akron, district secretary were in charge.

Principal speaker on the program was Al Ladd of Akron, who discussed post-war conditions and plans. Secretary Lamb presented the former state head a gift from clubs of the district and a gift from the Steubenville club.

State Governor Robert Sarver of Euclid spoke on "Growth, meaning and benefits of Kiwanis" and conducted the induction of new officers for the tenth district.

Kiwanians attended from East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine, Steubenville, Salem, Columbiana, Mingo Junction and Toronto.

Entertainment included group singing led by John Coleman of East Liverpool, music by an orchestra of Lisbon High school students and films on the Pearl Harbor bombing, shown by J. J. Lewis of Columbus.

Republican Legislative Plan Is Outlined By Senator Taft

WASHINGTON, April 21—Broad plans to develop a coordinated and "affirmative" Republican legislative policy, embracing post-war as well as current issues before Congress, were outlined today by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the senate GOP steering committee.

Taft announced George H. E. Smith, former Yale university faculty member and associate of Historian Charles A. Beard, will act as special research consultant to help devise a unified program on such issues as foreign policy, post-war aviation, administrative reorganization and taxes.

"We hope through him to coordinate the entire legislative program by the minority members," Taft wrote in a letter to Republican senators.

"I do not need to dwell upon the importance of prompt and considered action on the matters immediately before Congress, but the steering committee has felt that it is even more important that Republicans who have affirmative views on post-war policy, formulate those views into definite programs and present them for consideration at this time."

GERMANS BOMB BEACHHEAD EVACUATION HOSPITAL

THOUGH the evacuation hospital on the Anzio beachhead could not possibly have been mistaken for anything else, the Nazis bombed and shelled the encampment shown above. Bomb and shell craters may be seen at right of the group of tents in the center. This photo was made from an observation plane and shows plainly how the red crosses on white ground stand out clearly. ### BRICKER ENDS TRIP IN WEST

Governor Well Satisfied With Campaign Results, He Tells Newsmen

COLUMBUS, April 21—Gov. John W. Bricker, appearing rested and in the best of spirits, came back to his office today after a 10-day presidential campaign swing down the west coast and remarked he was well satisfied with the trip.

He would not discuss the matter of delegates he thought he might have picked up for the Republican convention in Chicago in June, but Robert L. Barton, Bricker secretary, said he felt sure the governor had won some voting strength. He would not say where.

"We had fine crowds and friendly reaction everywhere," Bricker told his press conference. "I'm very well satisfied with the results of the trip."

He was asked his opinion on the selection of Gov. Earl Warren of California to keynote the convention.

"I approve heartily of his selection," Bricker said. "He's an outstanding executive and will very ably represent the governors of the 26 Republican states."

Wins West Coast Praise

Would Warren's selection have any effect on his possible place on the national ticket, a newsmen asked.

"I don't think his selection will change that situation one bit," Bricker responded.

He was told that some persons in the east were predicting the convention would resolve either to a Dewey-Bricker or Dewey-Warren ticket.

"Any reports of that kind are mere rumor and speculation in which I am not interested," the governor said.

Claim Ohio Farms Can Absorb Most Of Lost Labor After War

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, April 21—A special "committee of 25" reported today that Ohio farms could absorb, after the war, virtually all agricultural labor that migrated to industrial plants during the years of the conflict.

Using the current farm population as a base, the committee said a survey indicated about 15 per cent more could be added, and that this figure would exclude only a minute percentage of the men and women who quit the fields to make munitions.

The current population was not given, but Dr. J. I. Falconer, chairman of Ohio State university's Department of Rural Economics, said he was not sure the governor had won some voting strength. He would not say where.

Of those who have left the farm, Dr. Falconer said in an expansion of the report, about 50 per cent have gone into military service and the other 50 per cent into war plants. There is no evidence yet of any concentrated return to the soil, he added.

The committee, composed of agricultural experts from over the state, was born from a few Ohio farm leaders met informally a year ago to talk shop. Dean John F. Cunningham of Ohio State's College of Agriculture is chairman.

Going beyond the manpower question, the committee report touched 12 other vital subjects. A summary of them, together with recommendations, follows:

Production and distribution—what has been called "surplus" in the past too often has been the result of poor distribution and underconsumption. There is a need for greater efficiency in production and distribution so all people may be well fed, clothed and housed.

Water conservation—adequate water supply is essential to agriculture.

Ohio Newspaper Boys' War Stamp Sales High

COLUMBUS, April 21—The lure of war jobs has caused a shortage of newspaper carriers. Smith Witter of the Canton Repository told the Ohio circulation managers at their annual convention here yesterday.

A report showed Ohio carrier boys sold $96,287.09 worth of 10-cent War stamps from Dec. 7, 1941, until last April 12, to rank the state third in the nation.

Missing In Action

Staff Sgt. Clyde C. Baker of Warren and Sgt. Louis Sarap of Steubenville are among those listed as missing in action in the European area by the War department today.

Sgt. Baker is the brother of Mrs. Hazel Rowe, 1784 Palmyra road, Warren. Sgt. Sarap is the son of Nick Sarap, 224 Slack ave., Steubenville.

SOVIETS HALT NEW ATTACKS BY NAZI UNITS

Hitlerites Fail to Penetrate Red Defenses On Baltic Front

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, April 21—Powerful German tank and infantry attacks have been beaten back by the Red army near the Estonian border town of Narva and at the foot of the Carpathians more than 800 miles to the south, a Soviet communique announced today.

The German blows on the Baltic front, which had been quiet for six weeks, were directed against the Russian bridgehead on the west bank of the Narova river southwest of Narva.

The Hitlerites appeared to hope to smash our defenses in one blow, but they miscalculated," the bulletin said. More than 2,000 Germans officially were reported left dead on the battlefield and many more slain in repeated attacks.

At least 2,300 Axis troops were killed, the communique said, but the Germans continued to exert "relentless pressure on our positions from two sides" and "violent engagements went on throughout the day."

Grim battles were reported continuing in full swing at the outskirts of besieged Sevastopol, and dispatches said thousands of Germans and Rumanians drowned in the Black sea as Soviet bombers and torpedo planes kept up hourly attacks against convoys seeking to reach Rumanian ports.

The Russians said bombers attacked two convoys Monday night, sinking a 3,000-ton transport and another of 2,000 tons, and the following day swooped on two more convoys, sinking a 5,000-ton transport and numerous smaller ships and barges. Axis troops jamming the Sevastopol docks, were being pounded by Russian artillery.

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Henry C. Cassidy in Odessa, quoted Rear Adm. Sergei Fedorovich Beluzov, commandant at that base, as saying American and British equipment, particularly planes, was being used by the Black sea fleet.

Truck Driver Fined $500 After Hearing

Judge Joel Sharp yesterday fined Robert Lohmeyer of Kent $500 and costs and sentenced him to six months in the county jail, after Lohmeyer pleaded guilty to a charge of second degree manslaughter at a hearing last night in the mayor's court here.

Lohmeyer, indicted by the grand jury for responsibility in the traffic death of Oby Johnson of Salem in a Route 62 mishap Feb. 14, was unable to appear until last night and the case was heard here to avoid an extra trip to the Lisbon courtroom.

Sentence and fine were suspended by Judge Sharp upon condition of good behavior, but Lohmeyer's driving permit was revoked for a period of one year. The Kent man expects to enter the armed forces soon.

Soviet Troops In Italy

LONDON, April 21—The German-controlled Vichy radio said today that a detachment of Soviet troops had arrived in southern Italy to fight against Italian Fascist forces.

There was no confirmation of the report from Allied sources.

Labor Draft Proposal Given Cold Shoulder By Committee

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 21—"try-to-get-it" attitude was the reaction of the house military committee today to a joint Army-Navy-Marine commission request for labor draft legislation.

The joint recommendation followed by less than five hours the committee's report on draft deferments and 4-Fs. Briefly, the committee held that existing law was adequate to allow government agencies to force into limited military service 4-Fs and men between 38 and 45 who refuse to take jobs in essential industry when jobs are available.

The committee long has opposed compulsory labor legislation and without its backing such legislation cannot reach the house floor.

"We have spoken and we meant what we said," Chairman May (D-Ky) declared when asked if the joint recommendation might persuade the committee to alter its position.

Legislation Not Needed

Rep. Costello (D-Calif.), who headed the subcommittee that made the deferment study, predicted there would be no labor legislation this year.

Berlin Reports Great Allied Invasion Fleet

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, April 21—The Berlin radio today said the American and British navies were massing "the greatest concentration since Dunkerque" in British home waters for the western invasion.

Troops are leaving London, which is becoming more and more deserted by British, American and Colonial troops," the broadcast said.

The Vichy radio, also broadcasting invasion rumors, declared the main invasion blow from the west would be timed with new Allied assaults in Italy and the Balkans.

Japs Launch New Drive In Honan Sector

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press War Editor

The first large-scale fighting in China since the "rice bowl" battle last fall has flared up in northern Honan province, where powerful Japanese forces are attempting to drive Chinese troops from their stronghold on a 150-mile segment of the important Peiping-Hankow railroad.

Chinese sources today estimated between 50,000 and 60,000 Nipponese troops, some of them brought in from Manchuria, are being hurled into the fray. Another enemy column has fought its way to within six miles of China's east-west Lung-hai railway also in northern Honan province.

The new Japanese offensive in China comes when the Nipponese invasion into India threatens to reach a stalemate.

With only a few weeks remaining before the torrential monsoon season sets in, the Japanese drive has been dulled to such an extent that British troops have relieved the besieged base of Kohima, farthest penetration of the Indian offensive according to Allied reports, and have initiated a strong counter-offensive around Imphal, 60 miles to the south.

The enemy was reported by Allied commanders to be sending reinforcements into the Kohima sector in a pre-monsoon attempt to cut the Bengal-Assam railroad 35 miles to the north and thereby check off supplies reaching Allied forces attempting to carve a new land supply route to China.

Along Japan's Pacific outposts, Allied air power continued its hammering, featured by the third consecutive daily attack Wotani island in the western Caroline islands and the important Satawan airstrip 150 southeast of Truk in the eastern Carolines.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz told of a 46-ton attack on Truk Wednesday, the 25th blow there since Truk was hit for the first time Feb. 16. Other Central Pacific planes pounded Ponape, east of Truk, Wake island and four by-passed enemy bases in the Marshalls.

FOUR RAILWAY CENTERS HIT DURING NIGHT

U. S. Bombers Reported Carrying Out Heavy Attacks Today

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, April 21—The German radio reported a major attack today on southeastern Europe by American heavy bombers, and the Air ministry announced the RAF last night dropped the heaviest bomb load of the war—more than 5,000 tons—on four railroad centers in Germany and occupied countries.

A German broadcast said Bucharest attacked by the American bombers, apparently from bases in Italy.

More than 1,100 bombers—the greatest force of these planes ever dispatched by the RAF—took part in last night's smash against Cologne and other centers.

This was the second time within four days that the RAF had broken the record for bomb tonnage. More than 4,400 tons were cascaded Tuesday night upon four other railroad centers.

Only 16 planes were lost in the operations, including a Mosquito raid on Berlin, which quickly followed yesterday's dusk attack on Adolf Hitler's Atlantic wall by a fleet of 750 to 1,000 Flying Fortresses.

An Air ministry communique earlier said a great weight of bombs was dropped in the four-ply assault, suggesting it might have exceeded the 4,400 tons deposited on French rail targets by a 1,000-bomber fleet Tuesday night, when the RAF marked up a record up to that time in bomb tonnage.

In less than 72 hours Allied air invasion forces in Britain had sent over 9,000 planes roaring against the European Fortress with close to 15,000 mixed tons of explosives on rail functions which tie the invasion coast with the Reich, defending airfields, plane factories and coastal defense installations in an unprecedented pattern of destruction obviously designed to flatten

Youth Center Wins Backing of Jaycees

Endorsing the recently-proposed Salem Youth center, the Junior Chamber of Commerce voted last night to offer its services and donated $50 from its Civic Improvement fund to be used in any way the Parent-Teacher association, sponsors of the movement, might desire.

The action was taken at the Jaycees' dinner meeting at the Lape hotel where Marion B. King, a businessman in Hong Kong, China, before he was interned by the Japs, spoke, describing his experiences while in China.

Herbert Brown, acting-president of the organization, appointed a nomination committee to make preparations for the annual election May 4.

The meeting marked the opening of the spring membership drive. Ten guests were present.

LEWIS URGES PINS FOR THOSE IN 4-F

Rep. Earl R. Lewis (R) of St. Clairsville, O., wants Selective Service to smooth the path of young men out of uniform because of physical handicaps.

Lewis suggested 4-Fs were entitled to protection from embarrassing questions to why they were "civies" instead of military uniforms.

He said in the congressional record that Selective Service ought to authorize an insignia to be worn by those deferred from service for legitimate reasons.

"These boys," Lewis said, "have been placed in the deferred class because of physical disability and yet the average person has no means of knowing whether a boy is deferred because of a bad heart, for instance, or is evading military service."

GOV. WARREN OF CALIFORNIA

Selection of Gov. Warren of California to make the keynote address to the Republican national convention will introduce to the country at large one of the party's well balanced political figures. It is a paradox that while nearly everybody who keeps track of what is going on knows California's Gov. Warren, the man behind the name is virtually a stranger.

He was 35 years old on his last birthday, March 19, and the father of six fine looking children, three boys and three girls. He was admitted to the California bar in 1914, but his law career was interrupted by the World war, in which he served as a lieutenant and a captain, holding a reserve commission until 1936. On his return to civilian life, he quickly got into public service and by 1935 had become Alameda county district attorney. His highest public office before becoming governor was that of attorney general.

His public service, however, has not been confined to elective offices. He has been interested in police training, criminal identification and investigation and general research in public administration. He has held a number of high offices in legal organizations and has been active in fraternal organizations. His knowledge of public affairs has been disseminated widely in various articles published in magazines. Though born in Los Angeles, he began the practice of law in Oakland and still calls Oakland his home.

Of the many party members qualified to talk to the Republican convention as keynoter, Gov. Warren perhaps comes closest to exemplifying the type of administrator which is the party's strongest talking point in its bid for national responsibility.

ROME'S FATE

President Roosevelt's reply to the prime minister of Great Britain, that "if German forces were not entrenched in Rome no question would arise concerning the city's preservation", is not a comprehensive statement. If the Allies were entrenched in Rome, instead of the Germans, there would be an even greater question of the city's preservation than there is now. To argue that the Allies would not be entrenched in Rome, as the Germans are, is of course to ignore the real issue. Rome is of prime military importance to the Germans, and it would be of prime military importance to the Allies, if they held it. The Germans are talking about its preservation because they are in occupation; if the city was on the other foot, they would be in the same awkward position as the Allies.

Rome's fate is not sealed. The Allies, it is certain, are open to reason. Even if military expediency keeps the Germans from abandoning Rome, as it probably will, there will be no indiscriminate bombing. There has been none to date. Railroad yards and warehouses are not cultural monuments, however, and they will be destroyed. Air fields will be bombed. There will be, no doubt, incidental and accidental damage to priceless buildings, but it will not be intentional. The object is not to terrorize Rome, but to reduce its value to the Germans as a military base. If and when the Germans leave the city and it is occupied by the Allies, it will then remain to be seen whether the invaders from beyond the Alps are as interested in its welfare as the Allies are trying to be.

HITLERITES IN REVERSE

There seems no possibility of a protracted siege of Sevastopol. Hitler's fighters will not buy the bloody badge of courage the Russian defenders of the city bought in 1942 when they defended Sevastopol for more than eight months in a last-ditch battle they knew they ultimately would lose.

To the Russians, the despised Hitlerites in reverse are merely trespassers trying to get away from the revenge they invited. Their composite character as a warrior nation in retreat is anything but admirable; they have lost not only the war, but their reputation, a circumstance which will have profound effect in the years to come. Germans long have profited among the Russians by the tradition that they are possessors of extraordinary military skill and fighting ability.

Their impending disaster at Sevastopol may foreshadow a similar disaster when the circumstances of defeatism are created on the western front. There, as in Russia, the Germans must decide whether to stand and fight for the sake of fighting, or yield to the more expedient course of flight. It is the job of the Allied command to create the circumstances of German defeatism by an attack of sufficient magnitude to overwhelm prepared defenses and start a retreat. The behavior of Hitler's armies in Russia suggests that once the retreat has been started, the same characteristics will be as dominant on the western front as they are proving to be on the eastern front. As in World War I, the German soldier seems able to do everything surprisingly well, except bear up under adversity.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, April 22

A fairly moderate opening for success and progress is shown by the predominant stellar aspects. It is a time for working toward cherished hopes and wishes, in relation to private as well as business progress. The effort may be based on sound principles and applied energy, promising fairly enduring returns. But there may be some tricky or peculiar circumstances to be vanquished by perseverance, shun high pressure from those in power.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have fair progress and productivity, during the year, with returns according to the persistence, industry and diligence exercised. There may be solid foundations with enduring rewards for future comfort and security. Resist doubtful demands from those higher up and keep alert to peculiar or tricky lures or strategies. Be prudent with funds.

A child born on this day may have much sturdy ability and fortitude and should make worthwhile progress by its own efforts and shrewd vision, as well as a measure of good luck.

Civilians Once Again

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If the number of questions hurled at me in the last few months by discharged soldiers and sailors is any criterion, the Army finally has answered a long-felt, growing need in the issuance of a little four-by-five booklet, entitled "Information For Soldiers Going Back to Civilian Life."

With only 31 pages, it is necessarily a primer that goes no further than two-times-two in covering the thousands of problems discharged veterans will have to face. The Adjutant General's office, under whose direction it was prepared, explains it would take volumes to answer all the questions in specific cases. Besides, those volumes would soon be out of date because new laws are being passed constantly. The "GI Bill of Rights" which will revamp a lot of the laws that now apply to men and women soon to be returning by the thousands to civilian life is just one example.

An effort is being made to place the little pamphlet in the hands of all service men and women as soon as they receive discharge orders. Those who don't receive one should ask for it.

The pamphlet covers a multitude of subjects for such a little book. It explains what part of your GI equipment you may keep; how long you may wear your uniform after discharge, and how to wear lapel buttons and decorations on civilian attire. Your "report of separation" and "discharge certificate" should be carefully guarded, for these are now as vital in many of your dealings as passports would be in a foreign country.

Few men, or their families, realize that within five days after discharge, they have to report immediately to their local draft board. Failure to do so already has a number of youngsters in trouble but no cases reported here have been very serious. If the board is very distant, preliminary report may be made by letter. After that, the same rules about keeping your local board informed of changes of address and dependency apply to discharged veterans as to civilians.

Keeping a record of his Army serial number is another veteran's responsibility, even if he doesn't think now that he will ever forget it.

There is a whole section devoted to how to get the old job back or find a new one. Here again, only essentials are covered and in one-syllable words, but with few exceptions they cover all the ground.

How to handle insurance; the rights of disabled veterans under existing laws; relationship with the new all-important Veterans' Administration; pensions; relief; education; vocational training; legal protection; and Social Security are all explained.

The Adjutant General's office expects to issue new editions as the pending veterans' bills become law.

In Germany the heart of the problem of establishing democracy is the relation of leader and follower. Germans, because they confuse loyalty with obedience, have never learned how to criticize their bosses.—Prof. Kurt Lewin, University of Iowa; formerly of the University of Berlin.

Illnesses of Children Often Recur In Old Age

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SECOND CHILDHOOD is a graphic phrase which refers to the mental parlance only to the mental habits of the very old. There is a macabre ring to the word second in that connection—repetitions in life are too often repugnant. A child

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

toddling and lurching across the floor in its first attempts to walk is charming; not so in second childhood with his last attempts to walk.

I say second childhood means particularly the mental characters of the period. But there is also a curious repetition of the physical ailments of the young in old age. It is often forgotten by physicians that old people are susceptible to some of the diseases particularly likely to be found in children. To name only two—whooping cough and appendicitis. I have frequently repeated in this column the clinical aphorism—"If Johnny brings whooping cough home from school who in the household is most likely to get it? The answer is—"Grandpa."

Appendicitis is particularly a disease of the young. If you were to investigate the hospital records of a thousand cases of appendicitis and classified them on the basis of the age of the patient alone, you would find that about 750 were under the age of 30, and of these 250 were under the age of 10. The incidence declines very rapidly after the age of 30. This is because the lymphatic atrophies, especially the lymphatic or tonsillar-like tissues of which it is so largely composed at birth and by the age of 40 it is a mere string in most people.

Dr. Hertzel's Examination

Dr. A. E. Hertzel examined a thousand appendices at all ages and found that of those recovered from persons over the age of 40 that 75 per cent were so atrophied that there was hardly anything left to infect, so that infection by germs and consequent appendicitis is a very remote possibility. But that 25 per cent of the population does go on to old age with its appendix lymphatic tissue more or less intact and with the further factor of the reduced resistance to germs which occurs in elderly people so that they again become liable to appendicitis.

Since gallstones occur so frequently in old people (a recent series of reported autopsies on people over 80 showed that 90 per cent of them harbored gallstones) an acute stomach ache in an elderly person is almost invariably put down to gallstone colic when quite often it is appendicitis.

The diagnosis is further confused in that doctors always feel that a fever should go with appendicitis. They get it in young people, but the old notably are sluggish with temperature response, so their appendicitis is likely to go without fever, and hence is overlooked. But the appendicitis of old people is a good example of second childhood.

Diet of the Aged

Another is the diet of the aged. One great mistake in the medical management of the aged is to let them select their own food which they do on the basis of the condition of their teeth, selecting the foods they can chew, and on the basis of previous tastes, and somewhat on the pocketbook. In any family circle great attention is paid to selecting the diet of the child, but it is equally important to select and insist on the diet of the aged. Here, since I have knocked the indiscriminate use of concentrated vitamins on so many occasions, let me say that such vitapeople, but it is safer to be sure it is not infection first before blaming the nerves.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

E. A.—Is it possible to have a temperature that rises 99 to 101 and not have any infection? Can it be caused by nerves?

Answer: In children mere over excitement or a tantrum of nerves will cause a rise of temperature to 101. Nerves can cause it in older

CHINA'S RAW MANPOWER BUILDS ALLIED AIRFIELDS

AS CHINA'S VAST PROGRAM goes forward in the building of many modern airfields for use against the Japs, U. S. and Chinese army engineers plan the fields and supervise the toil of 300,000 Chinese workers. Machinery is not available so, in the age-old tradition, hand and muscle is made to serve instead. A large body of laborers (top) pull a heavy roller over stones, chipped into small pieces by hand, to smooth a runway as a Liberator bomber flies overhead. As soon as one airstrip is completed, the workers pick up their makeshift wheelbarrows and other conveyances (bottom) and head toward another section of the selected site to start building other runways to be used for assaults against the enemy. ## TURKEY'S ROLE IN WAR IS EXPLAINED

By FRANK O'BRIEN

ANKARA, April 21—If Turkey entered the war without being attacked it would be the most immoral thing a nation ever did."

That was the key statement in a chance, two-hour talk I had recently with a minor official of the Anatolian town Kizilcayhamam, 55 miles north of Ankara.

This talk was one of the most illuminating I've had during four years in Turkey, because the speaker was pulling no punches, and brushed aside all, or almost all, considerations of high policy which usually burden conversations with Turks in Istanbul and Ankara.

He spoke with eloquence and great good reason; straight from the heart of what ordinary men and women of Turkey think and believe. I am completely convinced he sincerely voiced ordinary, unimpaired Anatolian-Turkish public opinion.

This is important, because cosmopolitan Istanbul and Ankara Turks cannot be considered representative of the real public feelings of the other 17,000,000 Turks living in Anatolia.

The conversation brought out three main points: Absolute conviction that Turkey should not enter the war unless attacked.

Great confidence in the government and readiness to go whatever the government considers necessary.

Almost unbounded admiration for, and faith in, the United States.

"If we don't enter the war the British and Americans probably will be a little angry with us after the war, and we shall suffer from some neglect—perhaps even post-war isolation," he said.

"But if we attacked the Germans, they would have a definite cause for post-war enmity toward us. Who has hurt Turkey enough that the Turks should shoot at them? We are friends of all, and want everyone to be our friends now and in the future, or at least to have no cause for enmity toward us."

OHIO FARMS

Underground water levels,
which now continue to recede,
could be conserved and increased.
Soil conservation is a public problem. Farm operators should exercise every opportunity to prevent erosion and induce greater infiltration of water through increased rearing of grass lands and protection of forests.
Forestry—there is a necessity for development of farm woodlots and publicly controlled programs of rest growth and utilization. Special emphasis should be placed on control.
Electricity—Electric power should be brought to every Ohio farm. This could improve not only the work program but also family living conditions.
Rural health—more adequate rural health service and well-planned recreation would help establish and maintain a higher standard of living.
Cooperation—Ohio is a leading state in farmers' cooperatives and we affirm the cooperative principle, which is one of working together.
Tenancy—Many Ohio farms are operated by tenants or renters.
Long-term profits to both landlord and tenant are enhanced by providing good fences, buildings and suitable living quarters for tenants.

Farm Ownership
Credit—Agriculture must be assured of adequate long term and short term credit at the lowest possible, consistent with the interest involved.

Returning soldiers—Local community groups must study the desires of returning soldiers and inaugurate plans for their future welfare.

Farm Ownership—Ownership of land is one of the cornerstones of American life. Ownership and operation of the same farm by succeeding generations of the same family are desirable and should be encouraged.

Relationships—Agriculture must maintain a close working relationship with labor, for the welfare of agriculture depends largely upon the purchasing power of labor, and labor can have no purchasing power without adequate employment.
Likewise, agriculture must maintain a mutual understanding with industry, since neither can prosper without the other.

Members of the group, which calls itself the "committee of 25," include the following:
John T. Brown, Columbus, director of the State Department of Ag-

C. OF C. HEAD CALLS
FOR TAX REVISION

STEUBENVILLE, April 21.—Unless this nation's tax structure is rebuilt on a simplified scale, the United States "will not have to fear the threat of Socialism from the outside, but will be forced into it under the weight of its own tax system," declares Eric A. Johnston, president of the United States

Chamber of Commerce.

Addressing a forum of Chamber of Commerce members from Steubenville and East Liverpool, and Wheeling and Weirton, W. Va., last night, Johnston declared:

"Tax laws have been built layer upon layer into such a complicated mess that no one could figure them out."

Johnston recently returned from a tour of South American countries and plans to visit Russia and possibly China, at the invitations of those governments, to study business methods there.

That Grass Shack
In Hawaii Appears
To Be Idle Dream

AP Features
HILO, Hawaii.—From a strictly realistic real estate point of view, the average American had better kiss goodbye to that pipe dream of getting a little grass shack in the Sandwich isles and letting the world go by.

Three peacetime barriers will prove more formidable than the anti-aircraft guns and barbed wire which now ring the Hawaiians.
They are the Big Five, the Bishop
Estate and the land laws.

The Big Five is a group of companies (actually more than five) which control practically everything from pineapples to banking and shipping. No one can build anything larger than a corner grocery without their say so.

The Bishop estate, which controls three-fourths of the habitable land in Hawaii, never sells any land at all. Most Hawaiian houses for sale are literally that, with no land to go with them except on lease from the estate.

Native Hawaiians own some property but the problem is not which, but how many, own each tract. Under the old monarchy, all land reverted to the crown when each new king ascended the throne and he parceled it out again. The laws were just foggy enough so that a grant by King A has some legal status after King B put a new owner on the property. Then came the grants by Kings C and D.

The same land muddle extends to most of the coral atolls in the Pacific. Tarawa, Funafuti and Makin islands have every square foot above water allotted to native

BODY OF GIRL, 9,
TAKEN FROM CREEK

DOVER, April 21.—The body of Naomi Freed, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Freed of nearby Dennison, was recovered today from Little Stillwater creek a few feet from a bridge at which neighboring residents said they heard screams Tuesday night, when the girl first was reported missing.

The girl left home Tuesday to attend a motion picture theater in Uhrichsville, separated from Dennison by the creek, but failed to return, Sheriff McIntosh stated.
The girl's grandmother, Mrs. Ed Bridgeman, and several other persons living on the street over which the girl would have returned home reported hearing a child scream for help that night, Sheriff McIntosh said. One woman who heard the cry ran out of her house but saw only an automobile going down the street, he added.

Some ABC stuff
about E

IS A VERY important letter
in this war.

It's the name of the War
Bonds you buy—"War Savings Bond Series E."

As you know, a Series E Bond will work for you for ten full years, piling up interest all that time, till finally you'll get four dollars back for every three you put up. Pretty nice.

The first job of the money you put into "E" is, of course, to help finance the war. But it also gives you a wonderful way to save money.

And when the war is over, that money you now put away can do another job, can help America swing over from war to peace.

There'll come a day when you'll bless these Bonds—when they may help you over a tough spot.

That's why you should make up your mind to hang on to every Bond you buy. You can, of course, cash in your Bonds any time, after you've held them for 60 days. You get all your money back, and, after one year, all your money plus interest.

But when you cash in a Bond, you end its life before its full job is done. You don't give it its chance to help you and the country in the years that lie ahead. You kill off its $4-for-every-$3 earning power.

All of which it's good to remember when you might be tempted to cash in some of your War Bonds. They are yours, to do what you want with.

But... it's ABC sense that...

They'll do the best job for you and for America if you let them reach the full flower of maturity!

Gen. Patton Joins European Command In New Assignment

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 21.—Pistol-packing Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., who commanded the American Seventh army in Sicily, has arrived in the European theater of operations for duty, it was announced officially today.

The general last had been reported in Cairo in the Middle East where it was rumored, months ago, he was to lead an Allied invasion of the Balkans.

He had dropped from the spotlight, however, following the victory in Sicily and after the soldier slapping incident was disclosed last November. This incident involved the punishment of a shell-shocked soldier and Patton later publicly apologized to the Seventh army.

Patton stepped into the limelight with the landing of his troops at Casablanca in November, 1942, when, with pearl-handled pistols slapping at each hip, he went ashore with an ultimatum for the surrender of the French forces.

Later he commanded the American forces in the battle at El Guetair in southern Tunisia, giving over command of the American Second army corps to Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley for the final push on Tunis and Bizerte only when recalled to train the Seventh army for the Sicilian invasion.

Bradley now is the senior commander of American ground forces in Britain.

Curtin pledged that Aussie forces will take part in the "final thrusts against Japan." (International)

14,000 Are Idle At Windsor Plant

(By Associated Press)
WINDSOR, Ont., April 21.—Picket lines ringed the huge Ford Motor Company of Canada plant here today and plant operations were at a standstill, with about 14,000 employees affected.

The work stoppage started yesterday when day-shift workers left their jobs at 11 a. m. for a "half holiday" in a protest over grievance procedure.

A little later the company notified the union—Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO)—that it was terminating the collective bargaining agreement in effect here since Jan. 15, 1942.

The company said the "general strike" was a breach of that contract.

Ford's president, Wallace R. Campbell, asked police to break up the picket lines, calling the "strike" illegal, but police said no additional officers would be sent to the plant until "the strike has been proven illegal."

Union members decided at a mass meeting yesterday to continue the walkout unless the company acceded to demands for the reinstatement of four suspended union stewards and continuation of the union-company contract.

Commodity Agency Plans Surplus Potato Purchase

Potato growers who can find no market outlets for their storage of potatoes may dispose of them through the Commodity Credit Corp. by shipping for processing into alcohol and other war uses.

Columbiana county growers having potatoes eligible for processing should immediately contact the county AAA office in the Peoples State bank building in Lisbon.

Potatoes will be shipped in bulk without grading by the growers but the percentage grading U. S. No. 2 and U. S. No. 1, size B, will be determined by an inspector as a basis for payment. The prices to be paid f. o. b. car are $2.05 per hundred for U. S. No. 1 and $1.09 per hundred for U. S. No. 2 and size B No. 1's according to C. P. Shaw, chairman of the Columbiana county AAA committee. A service charge to cover inspection and other expenses of 1 cent per Cwt. will be deducted.

Because of the extremely large 1943 potato crop many local growers have not yet been able to market their potatoes and since most common storages will not hold potatoes much later in the spring, the government program is necessary to prevent these potatoes from being a total loss to the growers.

Washington Round-up
News and Views, Briefly
On What's Going On
In Capital

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 21.—Despite recommendations by the Army, the Navy and the Maritime commission for labor draft legislation, the house military committee made it clear today it wants none of it and that there is little or no chance of such a measure being approved. The committee has said there's no need for such legislation and Chairman May (D-Ky.) observed today: "We meant what we said."

EDITORS
The American Society of Newspaper Editors today was told by its president, Roy Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star, that they will keep a free press as long as we deserve it—no longer. He said the American press has talked too much about its "responsibilities" and too little about its "responsibilities."
The current major responsibilities, he said, are (1) winning the war—he urged the press to be constructive rather than destructive in criticism—(2) election campaigning—newspapers, said Roberts, "can be a tremendous factor in keeping the campaign on an American basis, not down in the sewer"—and (3) foreign policy—despite difference in details, the same president said, there are fundamental principles on which all Americans can agree.

CIVILIAN PRODUCTION
Three separate senate committees are studying a War Production board decision freezing civilian production at present levels in critical labor areas. One of the committees—the Truman war investigating group—recently urged a greater output of civilian goods to prevent the home front economy from "weakening."

GOP PLANS
Chairman Taft of the senate GOP steering committee announced that Republican senators will draw up plans for a current and post-war legislative policy. It will embrace such problems as tax policy, budgets, relaxation of "unnecessary regulation" after the war, agriculture, labor, aviation, housing, public works and small business, social security, reorganization and abolition of bureaus and departments, repeal of war legislation and foreign policy.

MONETARY
Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today that a joint statement outlining a preliminary agreement on a program for international monetary cooperation will be made public simultaneously tonight here and in other United Nations capital.
Morgenthau went to the Capitol today for a conference with interested congressional committees.

BLUEBOOKS
Bluebooks listing approved housing for women war workers in each war boom town were called for today by the Women's bureau of the Labor department which said better living accommodations of all types are needed throughout the country.

ALLIES ATTACK IN EAST INDIES

ONLY A FEW DAYS AFTER Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, supreme Allied commander in the southwest Asiatic theater, announced establishment of his headquarters in Ceylon, a formidable Allied naval force rocked the important Jap base at Sabang, off the northern tip of Sumatra, for the first such assault since the Japs invaded the East Indies. At the same time, Allied fighters and bombers struck at two Jap airfields in northern Sumatra. (International)

Household Hints

Rub paint stains on wash garments with kerosene until they disappear. Or if stubborn, saturate stain with kerosene and roll up for 30 minutes. Then wash out in hot soapy water.

If you're lucky enough to have a curtain stretcher, it will pay you to treat it with care. Keep the stretcher in a dry place, says Successful Farming magazine, because excessive dampness leads to warp and rust. Keep the pins straight, and when through using it, take it apart and wrap it before putting away. Oil any hinges and bolts to keep them working right.

Use your home-canned, brined, dried and frozen vegetables and fruits as often as possible. If you have none this year, resolve to have a good supply next year and help yourself save money and points.

It's easy to freshen bread. If a loaf has become too dry and hard to tempt the family, sprinkle a little water over the bread and place it in a paper sack and heat in oven for five minutes and the family will eat it willingly.

a path for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's troops.
This pattern was continued today as bomber formations, including American Marauders, skipped across the channel, continental radio stations closed down and spitfires harassed the military objectives in northern France that were it by 2,500 tons of explosives by the Americans yesterday.

Attack Dutch Shipping

In addition to Cologne, rail targets hit in the RAF assault last night were Ottinges, 15 miles southeast of Bussels, Lens in the Pas-de-Calais area of France, and La Chapelle on the outskirts of Paris.

In addition to these strikes, the RAF's fleet of minelayers also went out.

Beaughters of the Coastal command made a foray against shipping off the Dutch coast, hitting one large escort vessel with a torpedo and damaging two smaller ones.

The Paris radio said Paris and its suburbs had been bombed again and declared casualties were high.

The American assault climaxed the greatest daylight air blows ever delivered against enemy-occupied territory and apparently caught the Germans by surprise. Returning bomber crews reported no German fighter opposition, although considerable anti-aircraft fire was encountered.

It was the third successive day the Eighth air force had sent an armada of almost 2,000 bombers and fighters over western Europe and brought to approximately 8,000 the total numbers of sorties flown by Allied planes in that time.

American Marauders and Havocs with an escort of RAF, Dominion and Allied spitfires hammered military objectives in northern France today.

Barton said he was impressed by editorials in west coast newspapers. "Their general theme," he said, "was that Bricker is a forthright candidate with the courage to give his views on the issues of the day. Responses to our trip was very good."

Bricker will address the spring meeting of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs tonight, and then leave Sunday for New York where, on Tuesday, he will deliver a major address on international relations. It will be given before the Ohio Society of New York.

OPA MAY REDUCE POINTS ON BUTTER

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The ration value of butter may be reduced four points next week.

Informed sources assert the Office of Price Administration (OPA) will announce a reduction from 16 points to 12, and that sufficient supplies now are available to permit the cut without causing a scarcity in areas remote from producing centers.

Used household fats will continue to bring two ration points and four cents a pound at meat markets, despite the establishment of zero point values for lard, shortening and salad and cooking oils, the OPA said today.

"These waste fats still are urgently needed in the war program for industrial needs," said Col. Bryan Houston, OPA rationing chief.

"Be Kind To Animals" Week To Be Observed

Willis R. Hole, president of the Columbiana County Humane society, said today that next week will be observed nationally as "Be Kind to Animals Week."

Locally the Columbiana county organization is calling attention to the observance by means of various publicity campaigns and urges all citizens to unite with the National organization in making the project a success.

"By observing this week once a year," Hole said, "we are all reminded of our obligations to our dumb animal friends and are more liable to treat them with the proper kindness through the year."

He also emphasized the serious need for more members in the humane group.

for the available men," he added.
After warning of a manpower crisis which may imperil the biggest military project in history, the Army - Navy - Maritime announcement said labor draft legislation was needed urgently to keep vital war plants staffed with replacement workers sent to war. Most of the 1,350,000 men to be taken into the armed services during the rest of this year, the announcement said, "must be drawn from vital industries."

The plan recommended would provide for voluntary recruitment of labor for draft-stricken war plants, and that failing, for resort to the principle of national service.

America and Britain. Indeed, it may fit the truism that world peace depends on cooperation among the Big Three—America, Britain and Russia. However, the orientation towards Moscow is evident and it will be surprising if, among others, Poland, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Finland and Rumania don't follow suit in due course.

Dr. Benes, who was a strong supporter of the League of Nations and was at one time president of its assembly, gives us a glimpse of a new Europe—a new alignment of nations. And what a change!

I spent some time in Czechoslovakia soon after its birth, and had the privilege of becoming acquainted with the great Dr. Thomas Masaryk, father of his country and is first president. The small state was trying to find its place in the sun, but even then it was headed for the trials which it now endures.

France was attempting to use Czechoslovakia as a bastion against hated Germany. Russia was just emerging from its revolution; Germany was down but not out; Britain and France dominated Europe. Now we are entering a new Europe in which the orientation is towards Moscow.

THE RED CARNATION by BURTON STEVENSON

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

The service entrance was at the rear of the building, a third of the way along the block, and Tony saw it as it would be for anyone to pick it up and out there. As he was looking at it, Joe came running with the narrow iron stairway which ran around the shaft of the right elevator. Tony made a sign him to follow, and walked along toward Broadway, where he picked a taxi.

"Two-hundred West Twentieth St., to the driver. Get in, Joe. I'm going down to Lieutenant Duffy's office," he went on, as the taxi whirled away, "and I'm going to pick up that rope-ladder and see we can't find out where it was. There can't be very many places in New York which carry rope-ladders like that in stock."

"No, sir," Joe agreed.

"Do you know the most likely place?"

"You sir?"

"How do you happen to know it, Joe?" Tony asked.

"My father he import one time work for him."

"He doesn't any more?"

"Lost all his money two-three years ago," Joe explained.

"That's too bad," Tony said. "By the way, how do you like Dr. Metcalf's brother?"

"Cruel man, terrible," he told me before that Dr. Metcalf never had a pistol."

"That right," said Joe. "Him have no use for pistol."

"Why not?"

"Him never kill anything," Joe explained earnestly. "Not even fly. Him make me catch fly and put him out. Him say life of fly just same as life of man."

"But what about this ladder, Joe?" Duffy asked. "It's Japanese you say, and so it must have been brought in by some importer."

The Jap house boy examined the silk ropes and then went over the bamboo rungs very carefully, one by one. At last he gave a little exclamation of satisfaction.

"Look there, boss," he said, and pointed to a tiny emblem stamped in blue ink on the bottom rung. "Mark of Shoga Company."

Joe was beaming with delight, but Tony stared at the mark dubiously. "It's too easy, Jim," he said. "It's just too easy. Why didn't he scrape off that mark? Why did he leave it there for us to see?"

"Maybe he didn't notice it," the detective suggested. "I didn't. Nobody would see it unless he looked for it."

But anybody who was going to use it as a property in a murder case would look for it. Tony objected. "I'm afraid it is just another plant. However, I'll see what I can find out," and he rolled the ladder up and put it under his arm.

Duffy pulled a telephone directory toward him and glanced into it. "Shoga Importing Company," he read. "Eighteen Cherry Street. That won't take you long."

"I'll be back inside an hour," Duffy said. "I'll be here all afternoon," and he turned back to his work.

Ten minutes later, Tony and Joe were entering the office of the Shoga Company, which they had discovered with considerable difficulty in a long, barn-like building in the rear of Cherry Street. The only person in sight was an old Oriental who came forward grinning ingratiatingly.

"What you wish, sir?" he asked.

"I have a rope-ladder here," said something about Japanese importers.

"I've got it here for you, still in that old suitcase," Duffy motioned to where it stood on the floor beside his desk.

Tony lifted it up and placed it on the desk. It was a twenty-six inch suitcase of heavy brown leather, much the worse for wear.

"This was an expensive bag in its day," said Tony. "It has had some labels on it which have been scraped off."

"He studied in Vienna, you know," Duffy answered. "Was there quite a while."

"You recognize the bag, Joe?"

"Dr. Metcalf's," said Joe. "But him never use. Him have new bag."

"And this old one, you say, was stored away?"

"In his closet in storeroom."

"My hunch is that it wasn't in the place at all," said Tony. "It would be safer in a closet in Graham's apartment."

"That might be," Duffy agreed. "Now look at these gloves again, Joe. Do you think they were Dr. Metcalf's?"

"Not sure," said the house boy, after he had examined them carefully. "Might be. Him have glove like them."

"Now, Joe," Duffy went on, "you told me before that Dr. Metcalf never had a pistol."

"That right," said Joe. "Him have no use for pistol."

"Why not?"

"Him never kill anything," Joe explained earnestly. "Not even fly. Him make me catch fly and put him out. Him say life of fly just same as life of man."

"But what about this ladder, Joe?" Duffy asked. "It's Japanese you say, and so it must have been brought in by some importer."

"What you wish, sir?" he asked.

"I have a rope-ladder here," said

Tony, and laid it on the counter. "It has the mark of your firm on it, and I want to know who bought it."

The old man looked at him more closely, and then examined the little blue mark on the bottom rung. Then he ran his eye over Joe. He looked at the mark again.

"It is true we sell that ladder," he said. "I remember well. I sell him myself."

"How long ago?"

"I look," and he shuffled away to a desk and opened a large ledger. "Last Monday," he said, coming back. "April eleven."

"Who bought it?" Tony asked, trying to keep the elation out of his face. Last Monday—the day McKibben was killed!

"I not know," answered the man, stolidly. "No give name."

"Did you deliver it?"

"No. I wrap him up and he take him along."

"But certainly you remember what he looked like?"

"Oh, yes," said the other, still more stolidly. "Him dark man, black eyes very bright, little black beard."

Tony's heart sank within him. For the dark man with the bright eyes and the little black beard could have been—Dr. Jerome Metcalf!

It was a somewhat chastened Tony who walked into Lieut. Duffy's office, and deposited the ladder on his desk. "Take it," he said. "Let Schneider have it, if he wants it."

"What was it—a washout?" the detective asked.

"Yes. It was bought by a fellow with bright black eyes and a little black beard. Metcalf, in other words. At least that is what the Jap said. But maybe that is what he had been told to say," he added thoughtfully.

"There you go," mocked Duffy. "Well, I've got two reports for you which you'll find hard to explain. The only prints inside the gloves were Metcalf's."

"Of course. What's the other one?"

"Schneider checked in at the Mayflower at 12:45 Friday morning, exactly on time."

"Have you thought about the air route?"

"Yes. We found the taxi driver who brought him to the Mayflower. He picked him up at the Union Station, so he must have left New York at 8:35, as he said. Where does that leave you?"

Lettuce will tolerate cool or even cold weather, therefore, some seed can be started very early. If you have a hot-bed or a coldframe edible heads of lettuce can be had before it is possible to plant in the open.

The first application should be made before the ground is smoothed, he said by broadcasting it like it were grass seed. After the plants are up, it should be applied as a side dressing—in shallow trenches a few inches away from the growing plant.

Nazis Form 'Magna Charta' For Winning Post-War Sympathy

LISBON, April 21 — The Nazis seem to be getting ready to proclaim some kind of "Magna Charta" for Europe, with the double purpose of persuading Europeans their best chance of escaping post-war social and economic chaos will be under German leadership while convincing the impoverished German masses they won't have to go Bolshevik to get social justice.

Indications in this direction are seen in discussions of the postwar order appearing in the provincial German press and also in the 17-point program recently drawn up by quelling economists and social theorists from all parts of Europe at a conference in Bad Salzbrunn.

At Bad Salzbrunn, which is situated in Silesia relatively remote from the threat of Allied bombs, Hitler's followers could discuss the post-war social structure of Europe. They frankly aimed at something halfway between the discredited methods of the capitalistic social welfare policy and the disruptive anti-social slogans of class-war Marxism. Their 17-point program accordingly looks like a compromise between the 1936 Stalin constitution, President Roosevelt's "Four Freedoms," Britain's post-war housing and social security plans, the principles of the Nazi party, or instance:

Point four of the program emphasizes "the right to work of every citizen," which sounds a little like Stalin's constitution. Point eight stresses the right of every family to "adequate living quarters and adequate means of existence"—in other words, good post-war housing and freedom from want.

Socialistic Things

Point 13 stresses the more abundant life, specifically sufficient time for leisure and the pursuit of cultural activities. The fourteenth point emphasizes the necessity of applying "the principles of the Socialistic order" to industry and agriculture, and emphasizes that this applies to farm labor as well as land, but avoids any reference to collective farms.

This all adds up to what is described not as national Socialism but "Voelkisch" Socialism. Each of the various peoples (Voelker) of Europe is expected to develop the type of Socialistic setup best suited to its particular character and needs. The general aim is the creation of a "Socialist Europe without a proletariat."

An article published in the Oberschlesische Zeitung of Breslau, discussing the post-war outlook for soldiers and workers, contains this striking line:

"After five years of war we are once again in a situation similar to 1932."

That was the year when the Nazis in full revolutionary fervor, promised a better world for the Germans. Hitler came to power the following year.

Language such as this suggests that some of the Nazis are thinking the best way to recover from the disaster of a lost war is to try to win the post-war European revolution.

South Sea Natives Like GI Clothes

(By United Press)

WITH U. S. ARMY FORCES IN THE SOLOMONS — The ravages of war have passed over many of the South Sea islands, but natives in even the most out of the places have learned the value of "one dollar, ten dollars" and acquired a taste for G. I. clothes—worn strictly non-regulation.

The beautiful native girl exists largely only in the imagination of Hollywood script writers, but occasionally a comely lass is found on an island where the Polynesian strain appears. But the popular fancy that romance with the village belle begins when you set foot on the island is quickly dispelled.

Such a one was Temota of little-known Rennell island, 100 miles south of Guadalcanal. Her striking figure wrapped in a sarong-like shawl and her shy smile captivated members of any Army party which recently visited the island. But when they asked her to accompany them to their flying boat anchored in the lagoon, Moa, chief of the village, immediately squelched them. "She stay here," was all Moa said, but everyone understood.

Visitors report that the islanders will swap you native souvenirs for your shirt or pants or almost any item of clothing, but they have a keen sense of trading. When the Army party visited Moa, he also was entertaining the king of the island, ruler of a dozen villages. The king's clothing looked familiar to the visitors. It should be because on the left chest of his short was lettered "USMC."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men... and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away... either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

Beggs Hurls First And Last For Reds

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, April 21.—Lieut. (jg) Joseph Beggs was scheduled to pitch his first and last major league game of the season today as the Cincinnati Reds moved in to play the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The right-handed Redleg will report for active Navy duty within the next few days. He was to be opposed by Rip Sewell, the "blooper thrower."

The Reds took the rubber game of a three-game series with the Chicago Cubs yesterday, winning the game and the series 2 to 1.

Thomas De La Cruz, the rumba dancer from Havana via Syracuse and the International league, pitched his first game in the big time and turned in a five-hit performance.

De La Cruz battled on even terms with Les Fleming, a 29-year-old Los Angeles boy, until the ninth inning. Eric Tipton opened the inning with a single; Eddie Miller doubled; Chuck Aleno, who replaced Steve Mesner at third, was walked and Ray Mueller shot a single to left, ending the game.

The Reds scored a run in the first on a walk, a sacrifice, an error and Frank McCormick's long fly but the Cubs tied things up in the seventh on singles by Don Johnson and Phil Cavarretta, a force play and an outfield fly.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Baseball Writer

Brooklyn's perennial spring song, "Leave us go root for the Dodgers, Roger," echoes through the damp tunnels of the BMT subway again today as the Flatbush flock comes home to see what has been making the New York Giants tick and the other clubs change partners and circle around for the second openers.

St. Louis gets its first gander at the unbeaten Brownies when they take on the equally spotless Chicago White Sox and the Yankee stadium opens up for the first time this season to present the World Champs and Washington, the experts' 1-2 pennant picks. Cleveland enters Detroit at home and the Venetian Connie Mack sends out his A's for home front inspection in a tilt with Boston.

In addition to the Ebets field inaugural, other National league "turnabout" openers will find St. Louis at Chicago, Cincinnati at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at Boston.

More Battles Today
More pitching battles are indicated all along the line although the hitters staged a partial comeback in yesterday's series finales. Despite the boost given by the Giants' 10-8 win over Boston, the records show an average total of less than six runs per game were scored in the first 20 scheduled tilts.

Early Wynn couldn't have been better if he'd been pitching all summer than he was in blanking the A's with two singles for Washington's 5-0 win. Dick Siebert and Buddy Hall were the Philadelphia "spillers." The Sens put on a weird base-running exhibition in the fifth when Roberto Ortiz slid into third base on a triple to find Stan Spence waiting for him. Stan had to leave and was tagged out in a run down.

Sigmund Jakucki, 31-year-old right-hander from Galveston, Texas, who holds an Army medical discharge, broke into the American league win column for the first time by hurling the Browns to an 8-5 edge over Detroit although he allowed nine well-placed hits. Vern Stephens helped him along with a double and single that drove in three runs.

National Football League Is Against Wartime Expansion

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—The owners of 11 National Football league clubs, having ruled out expansion until after the war, today looked into the possibilities of contracting their circuit to escape the difficulties of an unwieldy program.

The professional league yesterday tabled five applications for membership from four cities. These applications may be revived at any time the league wishes, leaving the road open for expansion to the west coast if it seems desirable or necessary to meet competition.

The club owners made it clear, however, that they don't plan to increase their circuit until after the war.

The unsuccessful bidders for franchises, whose $25,000 forfeits were returned, were Capt. Ernie Nevers and Anthony Morabito of San Francisco, Ade Wainer of Baltimore, Sam Cordovano of Buffalo, and an unnamed Los Angeles man.

Throughout the first two days of the meeting, there has been a strong undercurrent of rumors that mergers such as last year's Philadelphia-Pittsburgh combination, might be the league's solution to its schedule problems. The new Boston Yankees, with little player talent in sight, have indicated they would merge with another club, provided all games would be played in Boston. Otherwise the only support for the rumors was found in the club owners' optimism against the possibility of ending the meeting today.

Any such changes must be made today before the 1944 schedule is drawn up.

At yesterday's session, the league passed the rules changes proposed by the rules committee, including a ban on out-of-bounds kickoffs and permission for coaches to direct their teams from the bench, and made several changes in the constitution and by-laws.

20,000 EXPECTED TO SEE CLEVELAND AND DETROIT PLAY

Mayor Lausche to Toss Out First Ball In Game At Lake Front City

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, April 21.—A crowd of 20,000 is expected to watch Mayor Frank J. Lausche toss the first pitch in the Indians' home opener against Detroit today.

Beaten in their first—and only to date—league game with Chicago, 3 to 1, the Tribe will enter the Lake-side stadium barely favorites to take Steve O'Neill's Tigers in a pitching duel. The Detroiters lost their first three games to the St. Louis Browns.

Allie Reynolds will start on the mound for Cleveland, opposing Frank (Stub) Overmire, Tiger southpaw. Reynolds was league strikeout king last year.

Manager Lou Boudreau announced Russ Lyon would replace Jim McDonnell behind the plate for the Indians. Lyon swings from the right side, whereas McDonnell is a left-handed batter.

Boudreau indicated he did not plan to use Jeff Outfielder and mainstay hitter of the Tribe, who reported to the Tribe in Chicago Monday.

Cleveland's mayor, a former minor-leaguer himself, has been dusting off his good right arm for the initial pitch. At the home opener last year he wound up and hurled a curve that broke down the center of the plate.

Meanwhile, Ray Mack, second baseman who the Indians have been hoping would leave his war job at Thompson Products Co., declared he definitely would not return to baseball. He requested permission of his Selective Service board to play ball in his spare time, but board officers ruled he must devote all available time to the war effort if he is to retain his 2-B classification.

Few Tennis Balls Bounce On Pampas These Days

BUENOS AIRES — Tennis is losing out in Argentina because of the ball shortage. A number of clubs have disbanded and others are curtailing their program.

Before the war tennis balls sold at about $3.50 per dozen. Now they cost $20 per dozen when they can be found.

The United States and Britain formerly supplied Argentina but now tennis balls can be imported only from Brazil in limited quantities.

Seven Veterans Are Expected To Be Among 29 Tracksters Taking Part In Dual Meet

Seven lettermen and 22 other tracksters were expected on the field this afternoon when Salem High opened its 1944 track season in a dual meet at Louisville.

Faculty Manager Fred Cope, in announcing his list of entries, said he expected to use at least one letterman in all the events except the shot put. Charles Dunlap, dusky veteran dash man, will carry the heaviest burden in the meet today, participating in four events. Dunlap will run the 100 and 220-yard dashes and will take part in the high and broad jumping events. Francis Lanney, capable hurdler and relay man, will do his share of the work in three events. Lanney leads Cope's half mile relay team, runs the 220 yard dash and the low hurdle event.

Entriens Also Back
Another well-worked veteran is Frank Entriens, who besides pole vaulting and discus-throwing, runs in both the high and low hurdles. Ed Ferko, senior distance runner, will be used in the 440-yard dash, the 880-yard run, and as a broad jumper.

Tony Hoover, letter winning miler last year, will run in this event, and Bob Shea, another senior veteran, will participate in the pole vault and discus throw. Walt Brian will throw discus and is a member of the mile relay squad.

Also drawing heavy assignments in the meet are Bill Stout, versatile junior, and Robert Boone, Negro freshman prospect. Stout will run the 220-yard dash, the high hurdles, and is on a half-mile relay squad. Boone is in the 100-yard dash, the high jump and the shot put.

Ohio Bell Chief Engineer Retires

WALTER S. SPARLING

A change in the position of chief engineer has been announced by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. With the retirement in Cleveland of Gustav A. Kositzky after nearly 40 years in the telephone business, Walter S. Sparling, also of Cleveland, becomes the company's new chief engineer. Since 1921, when the Ohio Bell was formed from the merging of other Bell companies in the state, Kositzky, the retiring chief engineer, has seen the number of telephones operated by the company increase from a quarter-million to more than a million. In the 23 years of Ohio Bell operation, engineering plans and estimates for more than $300,000,000 in telephone plant and equipment in this and all other parts of Ohio have passed across his desk for his approval. In Kositzky's career, he has been identified with and has successfully solved many problems in the development of the nation-wide Bell system from 2,500,000 telephones

O. A. KOSITZKY

In 1905, when he entered the business, to more than 25,000,000 at present. Although many contributions to telephone's advancement have been made by Kositzky, his career has been particularly associated with direction and engineering of out-plant construction. Among his many accomplishments he developed methods for the practical solution of the problem of using from 200 to 2,400 pairs of wires in a single cable, so that each pair finally was connected to a single telephone.
